Recommendations: To enhance Botium Toys' security posture and better safeguard sensitive information, several controls must be implemented. These include enforcing the principle of least privilege, developing disaster recovery plans, establishing robust password policies, ensuring separation of duties, deploying an intrusion detection system (IDS), maintaining legacy systems, utilizing encryption, and adopting a password management system.

Additionally, to address compliance gaps, Botium Toys should prioritize controls such as least privilege enforcement, separation of duties, and encryption. The company must also undertake proper asset classification to identify and implement any additional necessary controls to strengthen its overall security measures.
